"Hi, my name is Ginger and I love to sew!
 I have been sewing since I was 12
 and made many of my own clothes.
 Boy has that changed! No time for that when you're quilting.

I began quilting seriously about seven years ago when I retired on Maui after teaching elementary school for 30 years in southern California. I really love the piecing of quilts. It took me awhile to enjoy appliqué. I always have a needle and thread next to my easy chair and stitch nightly.

I missed the teaching and have been teaching classes for my local guild, at local quilt shops and in Arkansas for the last few years. I have been fortunate enough to have taken classes at Houston, Asilomar, Okalahoma City, and Oahu from nationally known teachers. Each one has given me some new little trick to make me grow and pass on to you. We just never stop learning". Ginger White
